BIRDS OF A FEATHER.

Birds of a feather will flock together. They may at times seem far apart, antagonistic in their aims, declarations and efforts, but they come together finally. This is being illustrated in what some insist on terming the "irrepressible conflict of capital and labor." Even in this kind eventually finds and mingles with kind. Agitation separates the gold and the dross, and concentrates each respectively. The years of contest, of mutual denunciation, contention, lockouts, strikes, aggression and resistance, more or less disastrous to both, has resulted in the uniting of the sensible, honorable and fair capitalists and laborers in the one party, and the obdurate, unjust and dishonorable capitalists and laborers (real or professed) in another. The lines are already becoming distinctly drawn, at least in the United States. The first have learned to respect the just rights of each other, to see that their interests are mutual, that injury to one injures both, that benefit to one benefits all, and on this basis, by conference, concession and arbitration, adjust differences without loss or disturbance of trade and peace, with the result that both are prospering as never before in the world's history. The second, following the old rule of antagonism, contention and hate, are united only on one point—opposition and condemnation of the first class.

Thus the leading industrial, transportation and commercial capitalists and legitimate labor unions are united in the Civic Federation to further conciliation, concession and arbitration on the basis of respect for just rights, honesty and fairness. Arrayed against these are those manufacturers (the Manufacturers' Association) refusing to accord to labor any right except to work on such terms, conditions and pay as the employer dictates, and the irreconcilable, anarchists and their ilk (Herr Most, for instance) condemning each other, but naturally unanimous in denouncing the Civic Federation and its adherents and followers.

Funny, but it is a fact. Only recently the Manufacturers' Association, in session in New Orleans, applauded President Parry's denunciation of organized labor, ridicule of the Civic Federation, the Anthracite Strike Commission, the farce of arbitration, and solemnly indorsed his warning to the American people of the menace of organized labor to the lives, property, liberty and very existence of the American Government and nation. President Parry may not have heard the only echo to his utterance, but in New York, Herr John Most, the recognized mouthpiece of anarchy in this country, just released from the workhouse, is welcomed as a martyr and hero of liberty by his alien disciples. In his response to their greetings he reiterated to the minutest detail the sentiments of Parry's address and the declaration of principles of the Manufacturers' Association. Thus these birds of (dark) feather come together. Parry and Most, though professedly deadly antagonistic to each other, are really united on the one chief essential to the safety of life, property, liberty and the perpetuation of the government and nation—the suppression and obliteration of labor unions.

Now that these two obstinate, unprogressive devotees to fundamental principles of liberty have reached a common ground on which both can stand, no one will envy their closer relations, uniting and agreeing to practice their peculiar ideas on each other exclusively, with a monopoly of all the accruing benefits. The thousands of manufacturers and millions of workingmen who prefer the new way of conciliation and arbitration are so egotistical as to believe that a merging of Parry and Most, a close and exclusive combine, might be a good riddance of bad rubbish for the whole country. They are willing to risk it, anyhow.

A FLASH IN THE PAN.

England is again trying to alarm the world against Russian aggression and its menace to trade interests of all nations. The English press clamor for earnest protest and naval demonstrations to protect British privileges in the East by urging China to refuse the Russian proposition which gives more control over Manchuria to the exclusion of other nations. Somehow England's warning does not seem to be heeded, nor her threats feared as heretofore, except by her ally Japan. Indeed she was not consulted, nor is she considered by Russia, France and China, the parties to the Manahurian issue. Other governments do not seem to believe their interests threatened, whatever danger may betide British interests and privileges. Each of them, Germany included, seems content to look out for itself.

When Japan, at the instigation and with the secret aid of England, defeated China in war, for which an indemnity was levied, China having no money, was forced to borrow. Instead of borrowing from England, as was intended, China accepted the offer of the loan from Russia, which borrowed the sum from France, giving cessions and control of Manchuria as collateral till the debt should be paid. Thus Russia and France acquired what England designed to acquire—control of Chinese territory—as the result of China's reverse in the war with Japan. Against the consummation of this deal England protested and threatened war, but to no avail.

Russia occupied Manchuria, suppressed revolutions and brigandage; took possession of seaports and harbors, fortifying and providing facilities for commerce; pushed her railroad extensions from her trans-Siberian railroad, erecting depots, barracks, building roads and bridges—and also massing troops in the province and war vessels in the harbors, with provisions and munitions of war, if needed, to maintain her right of possession.

In the meantime, the troubles, with disastrous consequences and more indemnities to pay, have further impoverished China, and the Boer war and other adversities have rendered England less able to oppose Russian aggression in the East. Nations do not heed her protests, but prefer to treat direct with China and Russia, and China seems anxious to foster the friendship of other nations even against the wishes of England, regardless of results to English interests and privileges.

Privileges, especially English privileges, are no longer recognized, though England fails to realize that her sun has set. She will not be allowed to dictate the policy, enjoy the privileges, control the trade and mark off the map in the far East, as she had become accustomed to do till recently. She is powerless to induce or force other nations to permit it, and should her ally, Japan, be led to play the cat's paw, Japan will be squelched. England demands privileges; all other nations ask only equal and fair terms for the trade of Asia and guarantee of equal rights to all. China is willing to grant this, and Russia to allow it.

Russia has the army, France the money, and both large fleets; England and Japan have the largest fleet, but neither have the money. Other nations will not interfere unless necessary to protect their rights and interests. The inevitable result is too plain. There will be no war in the Far East. Russia and France, with the consent of China, will do just about as they please in Manchuria. The British lion may growl, Japan may bark—no one seems to care if they do. England is already a second-class power, and will have to stay in her class.

Germany's tariff war of exclusion is not resulting well for Germany. The shutting out of American pork has raised the price of meat beyond the reach of the German people, while the production and sale of American pork is not affected, the demand continuing and the price advancing. American export trade shows no decrease even with the loss of German trade, but Germany's exports to the United States for the first three months of this year show a decrease of 70 per cent. from the same months of last year. The German merchants and manufacturers already realize which is losing, but the agrarians, who control legislation in Germany, do not yet feel it, but they will—and then, as usual with all such moves, they will be clamorous for a change.

His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons officiated in the dedication of the World's Fair buildings of the Louisiana Purchase centennial. Of course there are those who object to such prominent participation of a Catholic prelate, even though the Cardinal is American born, reared and educated—undoubtedly American. And what more appropriate than that Catholics should appear prominently in such a celebration? The pioneers, founders, builders of the Mississippi Valley wilderness, were Catholics, so devout that they named the settlement, designed to be the great center of all their possessions, after the patron saint of their native country of France—St. Louis.

PRIVATE PARKS

Should Be Liberally Patronized and Their Owners Given More Encouragement.

The Kentucky Irish American has been generally commended for its article on Louisville's public and private parks. It is all right for the people who can afford country homes in the summer to cry out against the parks, because these people do not need them. Fresh pure air and sunshine is one of man's inalienable rights, and where else can the poor man, the tired wife and mother, and the sick children get that fresh air, save in the parks? The parks are the country homes of the poor, and the poor certainly have a right to pursue happiness in their own way.

The people know what they want in the way of entertainment, and it does not take the owners of the parks long to give people what they want when that want becomes known to them. The owners of private parks will continue to do this year after year, in the past, that is to furnish whores, freshmeats, good music and features of novelty yet clean and entertaining character. If this weather is fit most of them will be open tomorrow. The proprietors of these parks need to be encouraged by the patronage of the people. Give them this encouragement and there will be no quarrel about the character of the people who attend. The vicious classes will not care to mix with the best people.

HAPPY UNION.

Edward J. Stosberg and Miss Alice Ellard were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the Cathedral of the Assumption at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. Father Rock performed the marriage ceremony and spoke feelingly to the contracting parties on the dignity of marriage and the duties of the married state. The attendants were Messrs. Ed Ronger and Jacob Biff. The Cathedral was crowded with friends of the happy couple. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Stosberg were tendered a reception at the home of Mrs. Ellard, the bride's mother, at 830 Preston street. The many friends of the happy mated couple called and wished them happiness on their journey through life. The wedding presents were numerous and handsome.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

The second reading of the Irish land bill in the House of Commons will not take place before next Wednesday.

The King has definitely expressed his willingness to open the Royal Victoria Hospital, Belfast, during his forthcoming visit to Ireland.

At the last meeting of the Carrick District Council at Waterford tenders were accepted for the erection of eight cottages under the laborers' act.

In the semi-final Rugby football match for the Munster cup played at Limerick between Garryowen and Rockwell the former were victorious by one penalty goal to nil.

It would be difficult to express any opinion at present as to what may be the recommendations of the Commissioners, but certainly it looks as if matters were brightening up for the erection of a new bridge over the Suir at Waterford.

The Dublin public health department now appear confident that they have got complete control of the smallpox outbreak, and are strongly of the opinion that it is only a matter of a short period until they will have completely stamped out the disease.

Coroner Alfred Blake held an inquest at the Cork municipal buildings on the body of young James Sullivan, Lower River, who was found drowned in the River Lee, near the Harbor Commissioners' yard. A verdict of death from drowning was returned.

According to a return issued by the Board of Trade the number of Irish emigrants last month was 1,859, as against 1,925 in March, 1902. The total number for the first quarter of the present year was 5,220, as compared with 3,057 during the corresponding period last year.

Katherine Roche, grocer of Cloyne, was recently adjudicated a bankrupt in the Cork Bankruptcy Court. When the messenger went to execute the warrant she could not be found, having left for England. She was arrested in London and returned to Cork, where she has been confined in the city jail.

His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant in the exercise of the prerogative of mercy has commuted the sentence of death upon Andrew Moore, a prisoner in Cork jail, into one of penal servitude for life. Moore was convicted at the recent Cork assizes of the murder of the Rev. Bell, rector of Kilmee parish.

The Irish Executive has notified County Inspectors all over Ireland that recruiting for the Irish royal constabulary has been suspended, and that candidates who have forwarded their names for appointment should be advised to look for other situations. This is an indication that sensational developments are impending and changes are in contemplation.

Things are very rosy all around. Not for ages has Ireland looked out upon so fair a prospect, says the Dublin Independent. It would seem as if a new era had really dawned and that at last Ireland is to have some of the chances she has so long been pining for. The statesmanlike effort to settle the land question has been followed immediately by an admirable scheme to further the great movement toward industrial development.

The Duke of Connaught, writing to John McKenna, Secretary of the Ulster Rifle Association, relative to the arrangements made for the forthcoming visit of the American rifle teams to Ireland, says he is sure they will meet with a reception in no way inferior to that given to our representatives in Canada. His Royal Highness adds that he will do all in his power to further the cordiality of their reception and be pleased to meet them in Dublin.

A shocking fatality occurred at Tralee station, on the Great Southern line. John Collins, who was employed coaling the engines at Tralee, was crossing the line from the goods side to the passenger platform, when he was knocked down by an engine which was backing slowly into the station and killed almost instantaneously. The left arm was nearly severed from the body and the skull was badly fractured. Deceased was about fifty-five and leaves a widow and three children. He was a native of Headford.

A very sad burning fatality occurred in Armagh in Lower English street, whereby Mary Ellen McGuinness, aged four years, daughter of Edward McGuinness, commercial traveler, was accidentally burned to death. The child was put to bed by a servant, who on going to bed herself found smoke coming from the nursery, which prevented her getting to the cot where the child was. She immediately alarmed the father, who at once rushed to the room and was horrified to find that the child was dead. It is thought that the child was playing with matches and accidentally set the bed clothes on fire. The jury found a verdict of accidental death.

A private soldier belonging to the Royal Munster Fusiliers named Riordan met with a serious accident at the Kin-sale military barracks. While in his sleep and unknown to the other soldiers occupying the same department he got up in the night and began to walk around the room, and whether the window of the room happened to be raised up at the time or that he raised it up during his sleep is unknown, but unfortunately through some unaccountable means he fell out through the window onto the ground underneath and sustained very serious injuries to several parts of his body, his back, shoulders and arms being, it is reported, seriously dislocated. He was taken up and examined by the local doctors and now lies in a precarious condition.

Exactly this month two years ago the people of Bawn, near Nenagh, were on several occasions thrown into a state of panic by a series of loud and prolonged wails, as if emanating from the bowels of the earth. On Saturday night the unearthly sounds were again heard by several people in the neighborhood. The noise began at the boundary of the townland of Bawn and is repeated every quarter of an hour, and dies away at a great distance from where it is first heard. Some of the neighbors received a great shock on hearing the weird noise, and it is the opinion of many that it is the wail of a banshee. Two years ago, as stated, the place was visited by a force of police, accompanied by a large crowd of people from Nenagh to hear the cries and inquire into the matter, and all were astonished at the unearthly shrieks.

At an inquest held at Blanchardstown by Coroner Frieri into the cause of death of a laborer named Patrick Dolan, aged forty-five years, who died as a result of an explosion of dynamite which he was using in blasting stumps of trees that had been blown down in the district during the recent storm. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death. Dolan leaves a wife and seven children to mourn his loss, and much sympathy is felt for them in the district. Deceased and John Brophy were employed by Col. McCartney Filgate, at Hillsbrook, Castleknock. Brophy brought the dynamite with him in the morning, but forgot to bring percussion caps to explode it. He went for the caps and asked Dolan to soften the dynamite. While Dolan was doing this the dynamite must have exploded and killed him. The sauceman in which the dynamite was being softened was blown to atoms and some of the metal embedded in a tree. A big charge of it went through Dolan's heart, and Dr. Cullen said that death must have been instantaneous.

FATHER HILL COMES HOME.
Rev. John T. Hill has been appointed assistant pastor at the Cathedral. Father Hill was born and raised in St. John's parish. Since his ordination several years ago he has been on rural missions. His friends are glad to hear that he has been transferred to the city.

GREAT BOXING CONTEST.

The twenty round boxing contest between Benny Yanger and Kid Broad will take place at the Auditorium tonight under the auspices of Col. R. E. Gray's Southern Athletic Club. The public is greatly interested in this bout. Dave Sullivan has announced that he wants a go with the winner of tonight's contest. George Gardner and Marvin Hart will box twenty rounds under the auspices of the same club on the night of May 13. Gardner will act as one of Yanger's seconds, while Hart will officiate in the same capacity for Broad.

BUCKINGHAM.

The Utopians, a favorite big burlesque show, will be the next attraction at the Buckingham Theater. "The Magic Hat," a new and entertaining burlesque, will be given as a curtain raiser. "Razze Dazze," another burlesque, with handsome costumes and sparkling music, will close the entertainment. In between the following vaudeville acts will be given: The Josselin trio, premier acrobats; Joe Madden and John W. Jess, comedians; Tom Ripley, monologue and singing; Mark and Kitty Hart in a novel comedy sketch; the Lavelles in eccentric dances; Charles E. Foreman, lyric tenor; Marie Sparrow in up-to-date songs. The performance will be given each night with usual matinees during the week.

FATHER OF BULLS.

Louisville Man Has a Letter Written by Sir Boyle Roach.

Gets Things Mixed Wherever He Can in His Queer Epistle.

Tells of the Troublesome Times of Ninety-Eight in His Own Style.

VERY CHARACTERISTIC POSTSCRIPT

Below we give a copy of a letter written by Sir John Boyle Roach during the troublesome times of Ireland in 1798. Sir Boyle Roach has an international reputation in history as the father of "Irish Bulls." This letter is a fair sample of his manner of writing and speaking. If there was any chance to get in the wrong idea at the right time or the right phrase in the wrong place, Sir Boyle Roach was sure to take advantage of it. The following letter, characteristic of Sir Boyle, is in the possession of Michael Gleason, of this city:

"MY DEAR SIR: Having now a little peace and quietness I sit down to inform you of the dreadful bustle and confusion we are all in from the bloodthirsty rebels, most of whom are, thank God, killed and dispersed. We are in a pretty mess, can get nothing to eat, nor any wine to drink except whisky; and when we sit down to dinner we are obliged to keep both hands armed. While I write this, I hold a sword in each hand and a pistol in the other. I concluded from the beginning that this would be the end of it, and I see I was right, for it is not half over yet. At present there are such goings on that everything is at a stand still.

"I should have answered your letter a fortnight ago, but I did not receive it until this morning. Indeed scarce a mail arrives without being robbed. No longer ago than yesterday the coach with the mail from Dublin was robbed near this town. The bags had been judiciously left behind, for fear of accident, and by good luck there was nothing in it but two outside passengers who had nothing for the thieves to take except their purses and watches.

"Last Thursday notice was given that a gang of rebels was advancing here under French standard, but they had no colors or any drums except bag-pipes. Immediately every man in this place, including men, women and children, ran out to meet them. We soon found our force much too little. We were too near to think of retreating. Death was in every face, but at it we went and began to be all alive again. Fortunately the rebels had no guns but pistols and pikes, and as we had plenty of muskets and ammunition we put them all to the sword. Not a soul of them escaped, except some of them that were drowned in the adjacent bogs. In a short time nothing was heard except silence. Their uniforms were all of different colors, but mostly green.

"After the action we went to rummage a sort of camp which they had left behind them. All we found was a few pipes without heads and a bundle of Fenian commissions filled with Irish names. Troops are now stationed all around the whole country, which exactly squares with my ideas. I have only time to add that I am in a great hurry.

"P. S.—If you do not receive this, of course it must have been miscarried. Therefore I beg you will write and let me know— SIR BOYLE ROACH.

HAS MANY FRIENDS.

John B. Chenault is Setting the Pace in the Race For Auditor.

The race that John B. Chenault is making for State Auditor is as gratifying to his friends as it is surprising to his opponent. When the party authorities decided on a primary he accepted the conditions without a protest. He was prepared to submit his claims to the representatives of the people in a delegate convention or to the people themselves at the polls. By either method he only demanded fair play. Mr. Chenault has not sought a place on any slate that has been or that might be formed. He believes that the voters should be free to make their own choice without dictation from any quarter. He bears no ill will toward his opponent, and in all the other State races he is avoiding the slightest suggestion of interference. He wishes his fellow-candidates good luck in their respective contests.

To know John Chenault is to be his friend. He has a disposition that feeds on sunshine and gets sweetness and light out of cares that would embitter an ordinary man's existence. The kindness that brightens his face and keeps his heart young radiates to his fellow-men and all who come in contact with him are full sharers in his good nature, but back of his gentleness is a courage and determination that rounds out his character. He translates the word duty literally. In his official life he sets a high standard, believing that the public service demands all that is best in him. His record commends him as heartily to the public as his personal qualities endear him to his friends. It is a pleasure for those who know him best to serve him without hope of reward, confident that in furthering his promotion they are doing the State a service.

By training, habits and experience, Mr. Chenault will make an ideal Auditor. He has thorough knowledge of the duties of this important office, and he will bring to it a clear mind and a vigorous body. It will be fortunate for the Democracy to have John Chenault nominated.

BIG Y. M. I. INITIATION.

Quite a number of local members of the Young Men's Institute will go to Cincinnati tonight and tomorrow morning to attend the joint initiation to be held by Cincinnati, Newport, Bellevue and Reading Councils, in Knights of Pythias Hall on Walnut street. The class to be initiated is very large. Cincinnati Council alone has ninety candidates. During the morning the members of the Young Men's Institute and the candidates will attend mass at St. Paul's church, and will be addressed by the Rev. Father Lamping of the Diocesan Seminary.

The visiting members of the order from Louisville and elsewhere will be entertained at dinner at the Dennison Hotel. The initiatory ceremonies will begin at 2 o'clock sharp. Thomas Burke, of Council 164; Dr. J. Riordan, of Council 163; J. A. Cassidy, of Council 206; and Brother Ostendorf, of Council 176, will be the first degree. A picked degree team from Council 164 will confer the second degree. In all 150 candidates are to be initiated.

After the initiation an elegant banquet will be tendered the new members and visitors. Joseph A. Cassidy, of Bellevue Council, will be the toastmaster. Rev. Father Ignatius M. Ahmann will respond to the toast, "Light and Shade;" John E. Fitzpatrick to "The Plain People." Other speakers will be William Ray, Joseph Kealey, Geym Maher, Will Perry and others. Arrangements have been made to seat 300 at the banquet. Delegations from Indiana and Pennsylvania will be on hand to assist at the initiation.

Messrs. Gerald J. Connolly, Joseph A. Cassidy, Louis Heister and Joseph Kealey have been uniting in their efforts to make fitting arrangements for the entertainment of visiting members of the order.

SECURE GOOD CONTRACT.

The Louisville Fire Proof Construction Company, of which Pat Bannon, Sr., is President, and Mr. Jeff. Bannon is General Manager, has secured the contract for roofing the new jail with fire proof tiling. The estimated cost is $9,500.

Nothing but union labor will be employed on this work. The Kentucky Irish American is glad to see local people get the jail contracts.

DOING GOOD WORK.

The people of St. William's parish expect to give an entertainment for the benefit of the church some time during this month. Rev. Father Murphy has endeavored himself to all his parishioners and all are trying to help him beautify the church and surrounding lawn.

FOR A WORTHY CAUSE.

The Pauline Dramatic Club will produce "A Noble Outcast" at Macauley's Theater on Wednesday evening, May 27. The funds will be devoted to a worthy cause. The best local amateur talent will take part.

FIRST CAKE.

She measured out the butter with a very solemn air; The milk and sugar also, and she took the greatest care To count the eggs correctly and to add a little bit Of baking powder, which, you know, beginners oft omit. Then she stirred it all together, and she baked it full an hour, But she never quite forgave herself for leaving out the flour.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Flowers should grow around our homes when it is possible to have them; if only a few; or even a pot plant, set on one end of the doorstep in summer, will add a charm to the home.

For a quick cake beat until thick four eggs; add four tablespoonsful of sugar, half a cupful of flour, a little cinnamon and lemon rind; beat well and spread on a baking pan; bake in quick oven and cut at once.

The juice of a lemon taken in a cup of strong tea, without milk, will often cure a sick headache. Another excellent remedy is two teaspoonfuls of prepared powdered charcoal taken in half a tumblerful of cold water.

Articles of food that are damp or juicy should never be left in paper. Paper is simply a compound of rags, glue, lime and similar substances, with acids and chemicals mixed, and when damp is unfit to touch things that are to be eaten.

Time usually required for cooking vegetables: String-beans, beets and cabbage, two hours; peas and onions, one hour; turnips, three-quarters of an hour; potatoes, squash, stewed tomatoes, one half hour; green sweet corn on the ear, eight minutes, when cut off, five minutes.

To clean paint squeeze a clean cloth out of hot water, dip it in whitening and with this rub the paint till all dirt is removed. Rinse well with clean water, dry with a soft cloth and polish with a chamois leather. Paint cleaned in this way looks like new and the white will not injure even the most delicate colors.

It is sometimes difficult to keep raisins, figs and dates away from annoying little ants and roaches, but this is easily accomplished by putting them in paper bags that are well brushed over with strong borax water and dried before the fruit is put in. The little pests do not like the borax and will not gnaw through the sack when thus prepared.

To clean burnt saucapans don't scrape them till you have tried every other means to remove the burnt portions. Fill with cold water and let soak for several hours. Then fill with fresh cold water and add, if you have them, a heaped tablespoonful of wood ashes. Soda may be used instead, but it is not so good. Now place the saucapan on a cool part of the stove and let it boil up very slowly. When it boils empty the water away and scrub with a stiff brush. Repeat if necessary.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

All who attend the meeting of Division 3 Monday night will have a good time. Don't fail to join your division when it goes to New Albany next Thursday night.

Prof. Turner, of Boston, gave an illustrated lecture on Ireland at Erie last Friday evening under the auspices of Division 1.

Every division in Denver, Col., will receive holy communion at the Sacred Heart church in that city on the first Sunday in May. State Chaplain Father Barry will officiate.

William P. Cantwell, County Supervisor of Charlestown, S. C., and a prominent member of the Hibernians, was in the city shaking hands with his friends during the past week.

The three divisions in Minneapolis, Minn., held a joint initiation on Wednesday night. A great deal of rivalry was exhibited to see which division would have the most members.

Division 3 of Syracuse held a well attended meeting last Thursday and conferred the first degree on nineteen candidates. An excellent musical programme was rendered and refreshments were served. The second and third degrees will be conferred on May 14.

The ball given by the Hibernian Knights at Denver, Col., Tuesday night, was the last of the series of social events given by the Hibernians this season. The ball was well attended. Just before the opening grand march Capt. McNamara put the Knights through a fancy drill.

National President Dolan has written a letter of commendation to Myles Murphy, the actor, who is now starring in the East as the hero in "Saucy Jack Barry." Mr. Murphy recently gave a performance in Syracuse which was well received. Mr. Murphy has a high class Irish play and should receive the support of all Hibernians.

Division 2 was organized at Seattle, Wash., on Tuesday night of last week. Edmund I. Sheehan, National Organizer, officiated during the evening. The orator of the occasion was the Right Rev. Bishop O'Dea. He lauded the order for the good it had done in the past and urged all loyal sons of Erin to become members. The new division starts out with seventy members.

PASSIFLORA CLUB'S DANCES.

The Passiflora Dancing Club opened a series of six dances at Fountain Perry Park on last Thursday night. One will be given each Thursday for six consecutive weeks.

DOMINICANS
Will Erect Handsome Monastery at the National Capital.
The Design Will Be Pure Gothic and the Cost About $225,000.

House of Studies Will Be Removed From St. Joseph's, Ohio.

HOME PEOPLE INTERESTED

The Dominican Fathers of this province are preparing to erect the largest Gothic monastery in America. It will be known as the Dominican House of Studies and will be located in Washington, in the immediate neighborhood of the Catholic University. The estimated cost is not less than $225,000. From those who have seen the plans it is learned that the Dominican House of Studies will be the most beautiful cluster of buildings in that section of the national capital. The architecture will be of Gothic style. Cloisters, quadrangles, chapter rooms and all other features of monastic structures will be included in this big monastery. It will have a frontage of 185x220 feet in depth. One entire side will be taken up by a church, also built in Gothic style. Indiana graystone will be the principal building material, which while it is useful is also enduring. This great monastery will have a triple interest for Louisville Catholics. In the first place it will be intimately connected with, though not a part of, the great Catholic University; secondly, the Dominicans have endeared themselves to Louisville Catholics, and particularly to Irish-Americans, by their hard and zealous work here during the last forty years; in the third place the work of erecting the buildings will be done under the personal supervision of the Rev. Richard J. Meaney, O. P., a Dominican born and raised in Louisville.

The building will be pushed to completion, and it is desired to have it under roof and ready for occupancy by Easter Sunday next year, but the community will not move into it until the September following. All the students and professors of the Dominican House of Studies now in St. Joseph's, Ohio, will be transferred to the new house. St. Joseph's has become too small for the growing needs of the Dominicans. Moreover the Dominicans of this province will soon have to furnish their quota to do missionary work in the Philippines.

The professors filling the various chairs of study in the new Dominican House of Studies are all men who have taken degrees in the celebrated European universities of the order. At their head will be the Very Rev. D. J. Kenney, Regent, who is well known as an excellent theologian. Among other instructors will be found Dominicans who are specialists in canon law, church history, etc. The final determination to erect the House of Studies at Washington, D. C., is largely due to the zeal and enthusiasm of the Provincial, the Very Rev. Father L. F. Kearney, O. P.

FATHER HART ILL.
The Rev. Father Edward J. Hart, of Chicago, Ky., is seriously ill at St. Joseph's Infirmary. His many friends hope to hear of his speedy recovery.

SEND IN YOUR BOOKS.

The lot to be raffled off by the St. Louis Charity Club will be disposed of on the evening of May 20. The sale of tickets is progressing nicely and the members of the club are much gratified. Persons who hold books of chances are requested to make their returns at once, so that no books will remain out on the day of the raffle.

IRISH PAIR.
Tim Hurst, that energetic and versatile Irish-American, had his Irish fair in St. Louis last week. It was held in the big Coliseum building and attracted large crowds. Barney Castle, the peasant's cabin, the map of Ireland laid out in turf, the piper, the donkey and all were on hand just as they were here last autumn. Of course the fair in St. Louis was given on a larger and more elaborate style than in Louisville.

DERBY TODAY.
Churchill Downs Will Be the Mecca of Tens of Thousands of People Today.

Today is Derby Day. To citizens of Louisville in particular and Kentuckians in general this means a great deal. One of Kentucky's chief products is good horse flesh. Kentucky is noted the world over for her fast thoroughbred running horses. Each year sees improved methods of training and better horses. It is today that we celebrate the annual running of that turf classic, the Kentucky Derby.

Horse racing has long been known as the sport of kings, and as every Kentuckian feels himself to be a sovereign today he exercises the right to bet his money on the choice of his heart. Every Irish-American is bound to have a little drop of sporting blood in his veins and gets more or less interested over the running of the Kentucky Derby.

This year the meeting that begins today will continue till May 19, with Sundays left out. The sport under the management of the New Louisville Club promises to be better than ever. The grand stand has been repainted and the old wooden boxes have given place to handsome ones of iron. The new club house is a thing of beauty.

RECENT DEATHS.

The funeral of Frank Pfeifer, who died at Johnstown, Pa., on Sunday, took place from the Church of the Sacred Heart on Thursday morning. Mr. Pfeifer was thirty-seven years old and was at one time a member of the Louisville police force.

The funeral of James Pendergast, who died on Friday at the residence of his son, John Pendergast, 1836 Tyler avenue, took place from St. Cecilia's church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The funeral was largely attended by friends of the dead man and friends of the family.

Michael Moore, fifty-eight years old, died at his residence, 1607 Tyler avenue, on Wednesday morning. His funeral took place from St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The deceased had many friends who sympathize with the members of the family in their bereavement. May he rest in peace.

Mrs. Catherine Buckley, aged sixty-nine years, died at the residence of her son-in-law, Thomas Scally, 1720 West Market street, last Wednesday morning. The funeral took place from St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Buckley was a lady well and favorably known for her humility and works of charity. May she rest in peace.

The funeral of Geo. W. Limper, the fire alarm operator, took place from St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock Monday morning. The pall bearers were chosen from among the young men's associates in Trinity Council, Y. M. I., and fire department. Mr. Limper was a young man of much promise and his untimely taking off is every where regretted. May he rest in peace.

Mrs. Johanna Schupp, an aged and respected lady of the East End, died at her home, at Goss avenue and Texas street, on Monday night. Mrs. Schupp was eighty-eight years old. The funeral took place from St. Martin's church at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. Her six grandsons were the pall-bearers. They are Fred, Joseph, George, Maurice, Charles and Edward Schupp.

Miss Maggie Miller, an estimable young lady of the West End, died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Miller, last Friday. The funeral took place from St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Miss Miller was not quite twenty years old. She was the idol of her parents and had a host of warm friends who mourn her death. May her soul rest in peace.

John J. O'Connor, forty-seven years old, died at Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital last Wednesday night. The deceased was a son of Mrs. Nancy O'Connor and the late William O'Connor. The remains were removed to the family residence, 1230 Churchill street. The funeral took place from the Church of the Sacred Heart at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The interment was in St. Louis Cemetery. Mr. O'Connor was favorably known in the community. His many friends extended their sympathy to the bereaved family. May he rest in peace.

Jeremiah Lyons, an aged and respected citizen of Jeffersonville, Ind., died at the family residence, 131 Indiana avenue, on Sunday. He had suffered from a complication of diseases. Mr. Lyons was born in Ireland sixty-one years ago, but had lived the greater part of his life in Jeffersonville. He had been for many years a faithful employee of the American Car and Foundry Company. He leaves a wife and the following children: Mrs. Josie Hughes, Cincinnati; Miss Nellie Lyons, Timothy and William Lyons. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place from St. Augustine's church on Tuesday morning.

HONORS
Will Be Heaped Upon Bishop Francis Silas Chatard, of Indianapolis.

Cardinal Gibbons and Many Other Church Dignitaries Will Attend.

Laymen Have Arranged a Monster Demonstration in a Public Hall.

THREE DAYS OF JUBILATION

The Catholics of Indianapolis are making great preparations for the silver Episcopal jubilee or twenty-fifth anniversary of the consecration of the Right Rev. Francis Silas Chatard. The festivities will continue three days, May 10, 11 and 12. On Sunday afternoon, May 10, the laymen of the diocese of Indianapolis will hold their demonstration in honor of their Bishop at Tomlinson Hall. Speeches will be made by a number of prominent gentlemen of Indianapolis and other cities. Quite a delegation of Louisville Catholics will go to Indianapolis to assist at the exercises.

On Monday, May 11, the children of Indianapolis will do honor to the Bishop. Tuesday will be the last and greatest day of the three. On this occasion the largest number of Catholic church dignitaries that ever assembled in Indiana will be present to honor the Bishop. Among the distinguished guests will be his Eminence Cardinal Gibbons, twenty-seven Archbishops and Bishops and more than 300 priests. Among the distinguished guests who will come from a distance is the Right Rev. Bishop Montedosa, of San Luis Potosi, Mexico, an old friend of Bishop Chatard. The sermon at the mass on Tuesday will be preached by the Most Rev. Archbishop Quigley, of Chicago.

After the mass the visiting clergy will be entertained at dinner by Bishop Chatard. Bishop Chatard was born on the island of Martinique more than sixty years ago. His father was a native of France and his mother a native of Ireland. When Francis was quite small his parents removed to America. Here the young man grew up and in early life was noted for his piety. After studying in the best colleges in America and Europe he was ordained priest. His untiring zeal for souls and his executive ability made him a marked man among the clergy. In 1878 he was consecrated Bishop of Vincennes, Ind., but a short time later removed his official seat to Indianapolis, where he has since remained.

Bishop Chatard has proven popular with all classes and they are now vying with each other to do him honor.

IRISH AMERICAN SOCIETY.

The Irish-American Society will hold its regular monthly meeting at Hibernian Hall on Thursday evening. Business of importance is to be transacted and a full attendance of the society is desired.

NEW FIREMEN NAMED.

The Board of Public Safety on Tuesday appointed the following regular members of the fire department: Edward F. Speak, O. C. Castarken, William B. Duffy, Pat Hartnett, George E. Fitzpatrick and Peter Sexton.

RENEW THEIR PLEDGE.

Holy Trinity Total Abstinence Society of New Albany will be reobligated tomorrow at Holy Trinity church. The Rev. Father John B. Kelly will officiate and will be assisted by the Rev. Father Kenney. This is one of the largest temperance organizations in Indiana.

MR. MORAN REMEMBERED.

John T. Moran, whose resignation as Superintendent of the Louisville Packing Company took place yesterday, was handsomely remembered by the employees on the eve of his departure from that establishment. A few minutes before Mr. Moran left the establishment Tom Wolferting, one of the employees, stepped forward and in a neat speech presented Mr. Moran with a handsome watch chain set with five diamonds. Mr. Wolferting said he spoke in behalf of all the employees and what he had to say came from his heart to a man they all dearly loved.

Mr. Moran was visibly affected, but in a few words expressed his gratitude for this mark of friendship. He urged all to be as faithful to his successor, Mr. James Ward, as they had been to him, and to continue to remain faithful to Mr. Cuddey and the Louisville Packing Company. He said the force could not be excelled in any packing house in the country.
